

Media Summary 14 – 21 November 2015

Coverage

Journal of Environmental Law – The Chagos Marine Protected Arbitration—A Battle of Four Losers?

Journal of Health - Designing and evaluating the acceptability of Realshare: An online support community for teenagers and young adults with cancer

Recruiter – CMI launches apprentice management degree

Health Expectations - Women's views and experiences of antenatal enquiry for domestic abuse during pregnancy

Health Expectations - ‘You likes your way, we got our own way’: Gypsies and Travellers’ views on infant feeding and health professional support

Agg-Net – UWE secures key funding for construction waste research

Bristol Post - This is why Bristol’s parks and green spaces are brilliant

This is Somerset - Businesses call for more local powers

Bristol Post – Squash Bristol club forefront of sport

Broadcast

BBC National news interviewed student nurses on Glenside Campus for their opinions on the CSR possibility of charging student nurses £9,000, this will be shown on BBC National News at 6.00pm tonight.

The wind tunnel on Frenchay Campus was featured on BBC One The One Show, presenter and UWE alumni Patrick Aryee conducted an experiment highlighting how Kestrels hover.

The Centre for Appearance Research team have been appearing on BBC Radio 4’s Womens Hour this week as part of the ‘appearance matters’ week.

BBC Countryfile are featuring this Sunday the work being done under the KTP to introduce robotic arm technology to cut and shape large timber pieces for use in building. The project is led by Farid Dailami of Bristol Robotics Laboratory.