Description

I-Shou is a private university located in the south of Taiwan near to Tainan City and Kaohsiung City. It teaches a wide range of courses in English and has excellent sporting facilities as well as a highly equipped learning centre that is home to over 100 computers, audio-visual units and educational resources. The university's high speed internet network allows you to access all university facilities online from anywhere on campus.

Surrounding Area

Kaohsiung City is an ancient harbour city. It has a population of over 2.7 million people and one of the highest population densities in the world. It is home to traditional night markets and many Taoist and Buddhist temples. It is also the sunniest city in Taiwan! It is home to the first Confucian school temple in the country and is famous for strongly preserved Taoist rites covering everything from childbirth to funerals.

Accommodation

Available on and off campus. Student are expected to share a room with between 1-3 other students. All dorms are single sex only and students are required to adhere to curfews.
