Engage with your programme

Start your learning

Spend some time doing a short piece of writing about what you want from the course, what your hopes and fears are, and any questions you have. Please feel free to email me if there's anything you're not sure of.

Read around your subject

A key skill which is required to achieve a high level of success within your chosen programme is the ability to think critically about key issues and practices. To help you to enhance these skills and be ready to engage with your studies, you should start to read and research around your subject before you arrive. Explore the Library web pages to see the wide range of resources available to you once you become a UWE Bristol student.

You may also wish to do some preparatory reading or video watching for some or all of the subjects you'll be introduced to during your Foundation Year. Here are some suggestions:

- Criminology: Walklate, S. (2016) Criminology. third edition. London: Routledge
- Sociology: Plummer, K. (2010) Sociology: the basics. London: Routledge.
- Psychology: Slater L. (2005) Opening Skinner's box: Great Psychological Experiments of the Twentieth Century, London: Bloomsbury
- Philosophy: Craig, E. (2002) Philosophy: A Very Short Introduction, Oxford University Press: Oxford
- Politics and International Relations: Why international relations is the key to all our futures – article
- Policing: Police Culture, Ethics and Entitlement Theory (Journal article)
