

Media Summary 16- 22 August 2014

UWE Bristol News

UWE students run summer pop-up shop in Bedminster

Beyond Human – UWE Bristol graduate explores super senses of animal world for new BBC series

Out of this world – UWE Bristol Physiotherapy graduate secures internship at the European Space Agency

Two UWE Bristol researchers amongst world's leading scientific minds

Coverage

3D Print.com - Scientists in England 3D Print BioSensor That Can Immediately Tell If Water Is Clean

Eastbourne Herald – A Golden Opportunity for Jobs

Laboratory News - New bacteria-filled sensor for water monitoring

Daily Mail - Can sleeping only two hours a day make you more productive?

Chartered Institute of Physiotherapy - Physio graduate completes internship with European Space Agency

South West Business – Bristol's the University of the West of England unveils plans for landmark business building

Bristol Post – UWE unveils plans for landmark business building

Media Appearances

Madge Dresser was interviewed by BBC Radio 4's 'Great Lives' programme hosted by Matthew Parris and featuring Baroness Oonagh King, talking with Madge as the resident expert about the life of African-American anti-lynching campaigner Ida B. Wells.