

Media Summary 20 - 26 September 2014

Coverage

Infrastructure News - International Water Security Network SA branch launched

ITV West – Highest number of students ever in Bristol

Independent - Treat cardiac arrest patients at the scene, says top doctor

BMJ – Should we take patients to hospital in cardiac arrest

Bristol 24/7 – Bright night for Bristolians to explore and celebrate science

Media Appearances

Dr Rachel Fenton (FBL) was interviewed on Heart Radio and Jack FM Radio about the launch of UWE's new Intervention Initiative on Wednesday 24 September. She also appeared on Points West that evening about the new initiative, which aims to encourage students to take steps to prevent violence or abuse in their community.

Vyv Salisbury gave an interview to BBC Radio Bristol and BCFM for Bristol Bright Night about bioluminescence. Jo Barnes also gave an interview to BCFM about air quality.

Erik Stengler was named in ABC a Spanish newspaper and Europa-press a news agency, in the context of his participation at a round table on science communication in Science Centres and Museums, at the University Pompeu Fabra in Barcelona, last week. See links -
<http://www.abc.es/agencias/noticia.asp?noticia=1667841>
<http://www.europapress.es/catalunya/noticia-upf-reune-mas-260-expertos-debatir-comunicacion-cientifica-20140912131329.html>

Chris Alford took part in BBC Radio Somerset's 'Ask the Expert' session answers callers questions relating to sleepwalking, sleep apnoea and disturbed sleep.

Jonathan Benger did a pre-recorded debate for 'The Naked Scientist' to be broadcast over the weekend.