

Media Summary 21-27 March

Coverage

Bristol Post – Bristol Varsity Boat Race - students go head to head

Teru Talk - UWE Bristol Researchers Publish on Urine-Fuelled Distress Signals

The Guardian – Article published in the postgrad courses supplement – The Robotic butler is knocking on the door, featuring Bristol Robotics Laboratory.

Bristol Post – WIBA: 'Delight to be among inspiring people' says Outstanding Contribution Winner Peaches Golding

Transportxtra – Forget the technical debate, parking standards are about the type of cities we want to live in

IntoConnection – This toilet generates power from your pee

The Telegraph – What losing an hours sleep will do to your body

Care Appointments – New film explores isolation austerity and the politics of parenthood

Architects Journal – Bristol: Europe's green capital

Media Appearances

Chris Alford will be interviewed by Cape Talk (a talk radio station in Cape Town, South Africa) tonight about sleep, the amount of sleep you get, constantly feeling tired and how to get enough sleep in these modern times.