

Media Summary 11-17 June 2016

News

UWE Events Management students secure dream Glastonbury volunteer role

UWE Gloucester – Open Day for nursing courses

Revolutionary 'Pee into power' invention takes centre stage at Glastonbury 2016

UWE Bristol VC puts case to remain in EU on BBC Politics Show

Coverage

Financial Times Consultancies bypass Oxbridge in search of digital skills

Bristol Post Bristol Rovers' hopes of building new stadium at UWE move a step closer

ITV.com Bristol Rovers making 'excellent progress' on new stadium

Bristol 24-7 Cary Grant Festival programme revealed

Bristol Post Thousands to descend on Bristol this weekend for Uni open days

Bristol Post Bristol university lecturers and staff set to strike over pay and student open days

Daily Mirror Terminator-style cyborg arm based on Deus Ex video games could represent future of artificial limbs

Bioenergy Insight Marvel of toilet technology to turn pee into power at Glastonbury

Daily Mail The AI that decides when to inflict pain: Machine that chooses whether to make you bleed sparks debate into robot uprising

Broadcast

Professor Stephen Hoskins (ACE), Director of the Centre for Fine Print Research, appeared on Channel 4's Posh Pawnbrokers discussing 3D printing