

Media Coverage Summary 9 – 15 July 2016

Press releases

World first - 'Pee power' charges smartphone

UWE Bristol unveils flagship enterprise and innovation facility

Safety first: Project to cut accident rate in building industry by targeting prevention through design

200 local children to graduate in life skills from UWE Bristol's Children's University

UWE Bristol awards an honorary degree to Enid Smith

First students on course which has become hotbed for start-ups poised to graduate

Masonry arch bridge plans for Bristol Downs approved

Coverage

The Mirror Scientists build human urine powered mobile phone charger that costs just £2

Bristol 24-7 Pee powered phones developed by UWE scientist

Bristol Business News Figures show almost all UWE graduates find jobs within a year

Wonkhe Major overhaul of technical education will impact on universities

Bristol Post Watch how Bristol scientists use pee to charge your mobile phone

Daily Mail Caught short? Researchers reveals 'urine battery' that could power handsets for three hours with a single bathroom break

Daily Express That's 'pee power'! Fuel cell can generate electricity from a single visit to the TOILET

The Independent Taking a gap year: should you stay or should you go?

The Bookseller Introducing the next generation of ambient literature

The Times Phone charged by urine

Bristol 24-7 Graduating in a post-Brexit world

Bristol Post Granddad and retired firefighter becomes Bristol's oldest graduate

Business Leader UWE Bristol attracts regional business leaders to new advisory team

Architects' Datafile Safety first: Project to cut accident rate in building industry by targeting prevention through design

Bristol Post Should politics be taught at GCSE? Thousands sign Bristol student's petition

BBC Bristol Downs classical stone bridge plans approved

The Guardian Tech innovations that could reduce food waste

Huffington Post 5 Incredible Initiatives Helping Kids Build Better Relationships With Food

Business Quarter Healthy growth for Tossed

Daily Record British scientists develop fuel cell using human urine that has enough power to charge a smartphone

Bristol Post Students donate iPods, onesies and a full-size inflatable skeleton to charity

Broadcast

Professor Ioannis Ieropoulos (BRL) appeared on Made in Bristol TV explaining how he has developed a system of charging smartphones using urine

Subitha Baghirathan, a UWE Research Associate, appeared on BBC Radio Bristol discussing dementia among the BME community

Team Entrepreneurship student Steve Curtis was interviewed by The Breeze radio station about his experience at UWE ahead of graduation next week

Former UWE business student James Harrison was interviewed on Share Radio about his company BillHub

UWE Bristol's partnership with the Arnolfini was mentioned on BBC Two's Artsnight

Dr Chris Pawson's study into the behaviour of urban gulls in Bath was mentioned on TalkSport