Integrated Practice for Sexual and Reproductive Health (DFSRH)

UZVRVC-20-3

The aim of this 20-credit degree level module is to facilitate nurses to achieve the Diploma of the Faculty of Sexual and Reproductive Healthcare (DFSRH). This is a nationally recognised accreditation for competence in contraception and sexual health, underpinned with theoretical and practical knowledge providing an academic component. On successful completion of the module, 20 credits will be awarded at Level 3 (degree level). This module is not available at Masters level.

The majority of theoretical learning for this module will be self-directed but will include:

- an introductory study day and preparation for the module
- six half-day UWE Bristol seminars (five online)

Clinical competencies need to be achieved within the student's practice environment with support from identified sexual health nurses and/or doctors and Faculty Registered Trainers. Individual and academic support is provided by the University's Practice Educators. Students will submit a 1,500 word reflective assignment focusing on learning and professional development. This module does not include the Letter of Competence for inserting and removing sub dermal implants or intrauterine devices.

The time period for completion of this module is over nine months. The module fee includes the 'Assessment Half Day' but does not include FSRH Diplomate membership fees. The DFSRH registration fee is additional to the module fee although, UWE sponsor half of this – the student's share is added to the module fee.

Also available at UWE Bristol and, particularly suitable for those who are new to the field of sexual health, it is preferable for this module to be undertaken as a precursor:
